

ZAGAT

December 6, 2012

Corner Bistro Launches New Burger (in Queens, But Still)

When you hit Corner Bistro in the West Village, you can choose between the same few options that have been on the menu pretty much forever (hamburger, cheeseburger, Bistro burger). But, if you want to hit up the lesser known outpost in Long Island City, you can score a brand new burger on a larger menu. The brunch burger throws a fried egg on the classic Bistro burger (the patties are the same in both locations) - um, drool. The restaurant is serving brunch for the first time ever, and $3 Bloody Marys, mimosas and house wine will also be available.

Sadly, we don't think the new concoction will be hitting the West Village original anytime soon, mainly because we can't imagine where they would even have room for a frying pan in the tiny kitchen that churns out so many signature dishes. If you want to try it out, head to 47-18 Vernon Boulevard (718-606-6500).